

Premier's Message

On behalf of the Province of Nova Scotia, I am honoured to welcome you to the first annual Canadian College of Acupuncture and Traditional Chinese Medicine Festival.

The Chinese-Nova Scotian community plays an important role in enhancing Nova Scotia's vibrant culture. We are truly honoured to share the heritage, traditions and customs of the Chinese culture. Many Nova Scotians use traditional Chinese practices – like acupuncture – which can be beneficial to our wellbeing.

Festivals, like this one, are essential because it allows us to come together to build and strengthen our multicultural province. Sharing our diversity makes life better for all communities in every part of the province.

Nova Scotia is also fortunate to boast a stronger economic and trade relationship with the country of China.

I would like to congratulate the Canadian College of Acupuncture and Traditional Chinese Medicine for being a leader in the field for more than a decade. I hope this festival continues for many years to come.

Sincerely,
